

2014 AIA National Convention and Exposition

CHICAGO ARCHITECTS DECLARATION: COMMITMENT TO COLLABORATION

During the American Institute of Architects' 2014 National Convention in Chicago on 27 June, a forum comprising Presidents and senior representatives from twelve international organizations representing architects from across the globe reaffirm the following three important principles:

- 1 The importance of global collaboration to exchange knowledge and information to allow architects to act in an effective and coordinated manner to respond to the significant challenges facing societies across the world.
2. The leadership role that architects must play in advocating and implementing governance by design and design with purpose to address the social, environmental, cultural and ethical issues of our time.
- 3 The responsibility of the architects in designing to urgently address climate change, carbon reduction and resilience of buildings for the benefit of society and the built environment of the future.

SIGNED

Helene Combs Dreiling, FAIA, President, American Institute of Architects

Luciano Lazzari, Hon. AIA, President, Architects' Council of Europe

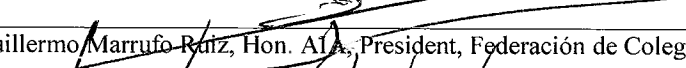

David Karotkin, FRAIA, Hon. AIA, President, Australian Institute of Architects

Marianela Jiménez Calderon, Hon. AIA, President, Colegio de Arquitectos de Costa Rica

Haroldo Pinheiro Villar de Queiroz, President, Hon. AIA, Conselho de Arquitetura e Urbanismo do Brasil

Guillermo Marrufó Rutz, Hon. AIA, President, Federación de Colegios de Arquitectos de la República Mexicana

Joao Suplicy Neto, Hon. AIA, President, Federación Panamericana de Asociaciones de Arquitectos

Kwang Man LEE, Hon. AIA, President, Federation of Institutes of Korean Architects

Albert Dupler, Hon. AIA, President, International Union of Architects

Yoshihiko Sano, Intl. Assoc. AIA, Acting President, Japan Institute of Architects

Jean-Pierre Pelletier, FRAIC, President-elect, Royal Architectural Institute of Canada

Angela Brady, Hon. AIA, Past President, Royal Institute of British Architects